

I made this set of kitchen canister labels for myself, and thought I would share them with you. This PDF contains two versions, one is formatted for 2" by 3" labels (10 to a sheet), the other is formatted for 2" by 4" shipping labels (4 to a sheet).

I originally made labels specifically to print on shipping labels, but I later discovered these cool self-laminating labels which are a bit smaller. I am currently working on reprinting all of my labels with these new laminated versions, which are way more kitchen/dirt friendly.

So below you will find two sets of labels. Set A is formatted for 2" by 4" labels, and Set B is formatted for 2" by 3" labels.

I made the labels based on what I have stored in canisters in MY kitchen. If, for example, you don't keep copious amounts of tempura crumbs on hand like I do, you could always skip printing that particular label.

Did I miss something important? If you don't see a label for your favourite kitchen staple, drop me a line and I'll see if I can't add it to the list. You can email me at hi@mapleleafmommy.com.
